

Dana Goldman, Ph.D

---

Dana Goldman is a Professor and the Leonard D. Schaeffer Director's Chair in Health Policy at the University of Southern California. He is also the inaugural director of the Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics, one of the nation's premier health policy research institutions. Dr. Goldman is the author of over 150 articles and book chapters, including publications in the most prestigious medical, economic, health policy, and statistics journals. He is a health policy advisor to the Congressional Budget Office, Covered California (California's insurance exchange), and the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Institute. He serves on several editorial boards including Health Affairs and the American Journal of Managed Care, and is the founding editor of the Forum for Health Economics and Policy. Dr. Goldman's work has been featured in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, Business Week, U.S. News and World Report, The Economist, NBC Nightly News, CNN, National Public Radio, and other media.

In 2009, Dr. Goldman was elected to the National Academy of Science's Institute of Medicine in recognition of his professional achievement. He was the first recipient of the MetLife Foundation's Silver Scholar Award, honoring his research on aging; the Eugene Garfield Economic Impact Prize, recognizing outstanding research demonstrating how medical research impacts the economy; the National Institute for Health Care Management Research Foundation award for excellence in health policy; and the Alice S. Hersh New Investigator Award recognizing contributions of a young scholar to health services research. He is also a founder and managing director of Precision Health Economics, a consulting firm to the health care industry. Dr. Goldman received his B.A. summa cum laude from Cornell University and a Ph.D. in Economics from Stanford University.